LOUISA IS IN LINE FOR BETTER ROADS

Enthusiastic Meeting Is Held and Association Formed—Sentiment for Permanent Highways Running Strong.

[Special From a Staff Correspondent.] LOUISA, VA., September 13.—With faith that prosperity will follow, Louisa to-day declared its intention of counties which have aligned themselves for good roads in the Old Dominion. The meeting here this morning aroused keen interest in the movement, evidenced by the fact that for nearly three hours a large audience gave patient and encouraging attention to those who spoke in behalf of better highways. At the conclusion of the addresses, without a single dissenting voice, a good roads association was formed, not only favoring the maintenance and improvement of the roads of the county, but also declaring its intention of counties which have aligned themselves for good roads in the Old Dominion. "We will welcome the improvement of the Richmond-Washington highway, via Louisa, and co-operate with others and assist in every way in our power in the improvement of such road."

Good roads sentiment ran high here to-day. The citizens of Louisa are keenly alive to the need of the proposed reform was shown by the frequent questions that interrupted the speakers, as well as by the pledges of hearty support made by the people assembled in the courthouse and by them individually, in many instances, after the meeting was concluded.

Shortly after 11 a crowd of representative citizens from all sections of Louisa assembled in the courthouse and chose Judge Frederick W. Sims one of the vice-presidents of the State Good Roads Association, as chairman.

The first speaker introduced was J. E. Pennybacker, of the good roads department of the United States government, and discussed the general phases of the topic and backed up his assertions with statistics compiled by the department. He stated the prosperous conditions that have followed the establishment of good roads in many parts of the country, declaring that the number of good roads already built in the various States demonstrated beyond doubt that the American people are rapidly waking to the fact that good roads constitute a most necessary economy. Refuting the arguments against good roads, he urged the citizens of Louisa to join the movement for better highways, confidently asserting that the benefits flowing from such an act will be especially numerous in this county.

State Highway Commissioner P. St. Julien Wilson spoke next, referring to the generous aid which Virginia is lending to her counties, and giving instances of the good work that has already been done on the roads. His speech was along very practical lines, and outlined the different kinds of roads, their cost and the advantages of having them.

Dr. Douglass Freeman, of the Times-Dispatch, followed in a brief but vigorous appeal for the movement. Referring to the fact that the good roads campaign was in the interest of automobilists, he spoke of the moral and social benefits that would accrue to the people of the Old Dominion if good roads were obtained. The good roads movement, he said, was a far-reaching movement. Proud of his historic past, Virginia must endeavor, by adopting all needed reforms, to maintain the standard set by the great Virginia of yesterday. Dr. Freeman was followed by Hon. McKissick, of the Times-Dispatch.

Lewis C. Williams, of Richmond, vice-president of the State Association, spoke from experience about the roads in Louisa, and told of his practical knowledge of the subject. He wanted to get out of the mud. He wanted to stop sinking money in unfruitful improvements and have intelligent, well-directed work instead, looking to permanence. He stated some of the important points in the construction of good roads.

State Senator C. T. Lassiter, of Petersburg, made the last address of the day, speaking at length of his bill passed by the last Legislature providing for the use of convict labor in road construction. He showed the merits of that measure and related some of the practical good results that have followed. He advocated a license on automobiles and wide-tired vehicles, the proceeds to be used in the maintenance of the roads. He was, he said, "a voice crying out in the mud," and he emphatically urged the people of Louisa to go to work to secure better highways.

The length of time consumed by the addresses prevented the expression in the meeting of the views of the Louisa advocates of the reform, but, to all, it was plain that the Louisa people will be second to none in going after better roads. A large number were enrolled to-day as members of the Louisa Good Roads Association.

Some of those in attendance at this meeting were Captain W. T. Treat, F. F. West, Dr. R. G. Brown, George W. Morris, Leo Rosson, J. P. Lavender, F. F. Willis, Carl Nolting, C. B. Stanger, George Goodwin, Captain Boyd Smith, Mr. Fowler, Dr. McCoy, James E. Porter, J. R. Quarles, P. B. Barber, Robert Price, A. J. Chevalier, Captain W. P. Coleman, Captain William Overton, Mr. Pendleton, Frank Lambeth, Harper Lambeth and others.

Every courtesy was extended to the good roads speakers by the people of Louisa. They were entertained at the hotel as the guests of Judge Frederick W. Sims.

The Times-Dispatch good roads car, driven by W. C. Gordon and containing Lewis C. Williams and the representative of the paper, left Richmond at 7:45, arriving at Louisa at 11, leaving there at 4 and getting into the city at 7. The route going was through Short Pump, Rockville, Inez, Hopewell, orchard, Thompson's Cross Roads, Apple Grove, Cuckoo, to Louisa, a distance of fifty-six and one-tenth miles. Returning, Louisa to Pendleton, Mineral, Cuckoo, Jackson's, Glenside Creek, Mableton, Montpelier, Glen Allen, a distance of fifty-three and three-tenths miles.

The roads covered by the car on this trip are said to be in worse condition than at any previous time within recent years. Just beyond Rockville the people of that community are planning to make three miles of good road, and some of it has already been done with the proceeds raised from an old-time tourney held a few days ago. Thirty dollars was raised in this way for good roads.

All along the line great interest in

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] FREDERICKSBURG, VA., September 13.—The first permanent road to be built in Spotsylvania county will start at Spotsylvania Courthouse and run for about one and three-quarters miles down the courthouse road toward Fredericksburg. The road will be built of gravel, will be two feet wide, eight inches in depth, and will cost $2,500, one-half of which will be paid by the State and one-half by Courtland district.

The work will be done by contract, under plans and specifications prepared by the State Highway Department, and under the supervision of an engineer. The road is to be built and completed without delay.

ROAD COST IN CAROLINE. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] BOWLING GREEN, VA., September 13.—The subject of good roads was discussed among the citizens who came to town to-day, attracted by business and politics. All were good roads men. As an evidence of the improvement which has been made in the county, George P. Lyon, of Caroline, Norman Mills, of Spotsylvania, and Mr. Biscoe, of Fredericksburg, came in their automobiles. All said the roads of the county could be put on a permanent good condition at a small cost per mile.

Headache Demand for Piedmont Virginia Variety Reported Brisk. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] LYNCHBURG, VA., September 13.—Handsome prices are being paid for fruit grown this fall for the apple crop. The demand for Piedmont Virginia apples appears to be better this year than ever before.

A Washington man who five months ago purchased a Bedford farm of nearly 400 acres from George E. Marshall has just sold the fruit crop from this farm at $2,400. McGregor Brothers, of Afton, Nelson county, refused $9,000 for their crop on the trees. The crop on the Boaz estate, near Coveville, has been sold for $20,000 in the orchard. This makes $45,000 realized from fruit on this farm in six years.

An Amherst farmer recently sold 500 barrels of apples at $2.50 a barrel, the amount from this sale being more than his farm would have sold for before it was put in fruit trees only a few years ago.

Indisputable Evidence.

You have read our oft-repeated statement, "In use for over 30 years." It was in the early sixties that the prescription now universally known as Castoria was first made use of. With a record of over fifty, under five years of age, out of every hundred deaths, it was the AMBITION OF EVERY PHYSICIAN to discover a remedy suitable for the ailments of infants and children that would decrease this distressing mortality. In Castoria that relief has been found.

Let us take the statistics covering the deaths in the City of New York for the past 30 years, and here we find the beneficent effect of a combination of drugs excluding opiates and narcotics so long sought for, namely: CASTORIA.

Of the total number of deaths in New York City in 1870, 50 per cent. were under five years of age; in 1880, 45 per cent.; in 1890, 40 per cent.; in 1900, 35 per cent. only. Just stop to think of it.

Until 1897 no counterfeits or imitations of Castoria appeared on drug store shelves, but since that date Mr. Fletcher has been called upon to suppress a number of these frauds. While the record for 1900 does not come down to our expectation it is owing to the carelessness of mothers when buying Castoria. The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is the only safeguard.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrup. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee.
